FOR RELEASE #10-012

January 26, 2010

Community Development Fund supports First Nations culture and heritage

WHITEHORSE – Thirteen community groups and organizations received over $500,000 in funding under the latest Tier 2 Community Development Fund (CDF) intake.

"The Yukon government is pleased to see a large number of community projects achieving a climate of collaboration and partnership with First Nations," Economic Development Minister Jim Kenyon said. "A significant portion of funding for this intake is supporting First Nations governments and related organizations with projects relating to cultural skills and preservation."

The Champagne and Aishihik First Nations have been awarded $67,500 to develop and design conceptual plans for the exhibits at the new cultural centre in Haines Junction.

"Our citizens are very excited and looking forward to having this centre as a place where we can protect and preserve our heritage and culture," Champagne and Aishihik First Nations Chief Diane Strand said. "The CDF funding will go towards exhibit planning for the Champagne and Aishihik First Nations Cultural Centre. Our goal is to have the centre, with the new exhibits, ready to be opened by summer 2011."

This CDF intake also awarded the Yukon Aboriginal Sport Circle $41,500 to develop kindergarten to Grade 12 Inuit and Dene traditional games curriculum and school championships.

"We will be taking all our traditional equipment and demonstrating various games like the knuckle-hop, the high-kick and the stick-pull to physical education teachers throughout Yukon schools and we will also be creating a manual so teachers can integrate these games into their lessons for future years," Yukon Aboriginal Sport Circle executive director Greg Edgelow said. "It is fascinating to learn how these games and competitions emulate real hunting, fishing, gathering and survival techniques that have been passed on from generation to generation."

The CDF offers three funding levels. Tier 1 funding is available for requests up to $20,000. Tier 2 funding is available for applicants requesting $20,001 to $75,000, and Tier 3 funding is available for requests over $75,000 in funding. The next intake deadline is May 14 for Tier 1 and 2 applications.

Organizations are strongly encouraged to contact the CDF office for assistance with their applications and developing project ideas.
