Message from the Minister

From the Sewing Maker Space in Haines Junction to the Arts, Music and Literature Festival in Keno, this year's Community Development Fund annual report is packed with exciting and innovative projects across the Yukon. Each of these projects demonstrates the creativity of our people and the enthusiasm that Yukoners share for improving the lives of their neighbours.

Our territory is home to a rich diversity of communities and traditional lands. While they are united by the Yukon spirit and many shared values, each bring their own distinct identity, strengths, and priorities. This diversity underscores the importance of the fund, which supports community members to shape and lead initiatives that reflect their unique needs.

As government, our role is to listen to citizens and community advocates, understand their needs and priorities and support solutions that empower innovators to address them. The Community Development Fund has long been a key tool for achieving this, with a proven track record and a strong reputation among Yukoners.

I look forward to continuing this collaborative work and seeing all the fantastic ways that Yukoners utilize the fund to enrich our territory.

Project highlights

The following profiles depict some of the community projects that were supported by the Community Development Fund during the 2024–2025 fiscal year.

Humane Society Yukon

Amount approved: $74,925

“The renovations supported by the CDF are key to improving the care and safety of the animals, the staff and volunteers and setting the stage for a new era of interaction with our community. The project includes upgrades to the bath/grooming room, the animal viewing room and the janitor room and sets the beginning stage for the community and Mae Bachur to thrive in a modern era.”

- Colleen Wirth

Biathlon Yukon

Amount approved: $71,711

“The support provided through the Community Development Fund has been instrumental in helping Biathlon Yukon enhance our facilities. These improvements have strengthened our programs and created lasting benefits for both our athletes and the wider community, but also enable us to host major events that bring significant economic benefits to the Yukon.”

- Bill Curtis

Keno Community Club

Amount approved: $11,813

“CDF funding has been so helpful for the development of collaborative, multi-community team building, within the Yukon. Through their partial financing of the producer costs of the Keno City Music, Art and Literature+ Workshop, it helped bring together community minded, creative producers (and thinkers) from Keno City, Teslin and Whitehorse. This culminated into a highly successful 12-day artist exchange in Keno City that brought together 12 other artists from across the Yukon. Artists were able to create, push their envelopes, share knowledge and build multi-community collaborative prospects for their creative endeavours.”

- Kim Beggs, Producer, Whitehorse

“As an assistant producer, participant, and resident, it was a joy to bring this project to Keno City. As an assistant, I gained valuable new skills and was able to work directly with an incredibly talented, and diverse group of Yukon artists. As a participant, I was given a chance to work in new and unfamiliar mediums, within a supportive environment. As a resident, I witnessed how our project brought the community together, provided a sense of pride in our community, and excitement to share what Keno City has to offer. It's official: good things and good art happen in Keno City. Thanks to CDF for helping fund the 2025 Keno City Workshop.”

- Amber Smith

Polarettes and Polar Tumblers Gymnastics Club

Amount approved: $20,000

“There’s a real buzz around the brand-new Yukon Gymnastics Centre, home to the Polarettes and Polar Tumblers Gymnastics Club. More than 2,000 people came out on opening day to tour the facility—a clear sign of how excited Yukoners are about this new space. Here, athletes of all ages will learn to take risks safely, build resilience, and discover the joy of movement.

This milestone wouldn’t have been possible without the support of the Community Development Fund (CDF). Funding from CDF allowed the Polarettes to hire a project manager to coordinate the move into the new facility including moving equipment from the Riverdale location and ordering, shipping, and assembling brand-new equipment to transform the beautiful, brand-new building in Whistle Bend into a world-class gymnastics facility.

The Polarettes extend their deepest gratitude to the Community Development Fund and the Government of Yukon for their generous support in making this dream a reality.

Queer Yukon

Amount approved: $20,280

Kwanlin Dün Cultural Society
 Amount approved: $88,791

Junction Arts and Music
 Amount approved: $17,910

“Junction Arts & Music extends heartfelt thanks to the Yukon Government’s Community Development Fund for supporting our Mobile AV Booth project. The booth made its debut at the Glacier Nights Snow Festival in March, giving our DJ a warm, protected space to rock the night and keep the outdoor dance party going strong. Because it’s mobile, we’ll be able to use it at future events, keeping the music — and our community — alive in every season.”
